BASEC

BRITISH APPROVALS SERVICE FOR CABLES

BASEC is a global leader in cable testing and certification services for power, energy, data/signal cables and ancillary products, alongside quality management systems. Operating independently for over 45 years, the BASEC mark is trusted for quality, clarity and impartiality.

The British Approvals Service for Cables, was founded in 1971 to meet the needs of major cable manufacturers, installers and users of cable in the electrical sector and quality standards community. Our stakeholders include the British Cables Association (representing UK and multinational cable manufacturers), the Electrical Contractors Association (representing users) and many other professional bodies and organizations in the fire, electrical and safety sectors, including representation from overseas users.

BASEC is a member of the European HAR scheme for harmonized cables. BASEC can also provide services supporting the European Low Voltage Directive and the Construction Products Regulation.

Premier Cables is a leading supplier of BASEC approved cable manufactured to the relevant British and European Standards.
